“ I’m so sorry to hear of your loss. May I offer you my condolences. I have found much comfort in the words of John 11:23-25; Jesus said to Martha: “Your brother will rise.” Martha said to him: “I know he will rise in the resurrection on the last day.” Jesus said to her: “I am the resurrection and the life. The one who exercises faith in me, even though he dies, will come to life.” Death may claim our loved ones momentarily, but we will receive them back in the end. Until that anticipated time arrives, we have many cherished memories to warm our heart.

“ Please accept my sincere condolences for the loss of your precious child. Nothing I could possibly say could relieve you of the grief you feel, nor should it. You need to grieve. However, you will be thankful for the comfort that only God’s Word can bring in the weeks and months ahead. Consider reading the account found at Luke 8:41,42 and verses 49-56 about Jesus’ compassion for a parent who had lost his young daughter. Also the account about Lazarus at John 11:32-44 and Acts 24:15. Until you see your dearest one again, may you find solace in your memories and in the inspired scriptures.

“ Please accept my sincere condolences for your loss. I find comfort in the inspired words of Job 14:14, 15: "if a man dies can he live again? I will wait all the days of my compulsory service until my relief comes. You will call and I will answer you. You will long for the work of your hands." We will see our dead loved ones again. Till then, we have our cherished memories.
