“ I am sick at the thought that this wonderful child has been taken from you.

Knowing him, as I have through Brenda's eyes and heart, there is no doubt that God has lovingly received him and will care for his needs, just as you once did.

We are all promised more than what this life provides, and that promise includes a continuity of the love you have always shared.

You are all in my thoughts and prayers.

“ I am sorry for your loss. Aptly termed "the last enemy", death is a foe that no human can defeat. (1Cor.15:26) Yet, Jesus resurrected the dead, restoring a young man to his widowed mother and a young girl to her grieving parents. (Lu.7:11-15; 8:41-55) In a most remarkable instance, Jesus resurrected his dear friend Lazarus in front of a crowd of mourners, although the man had been asleep in death for more than four days. (John 11:32-44)

Imagine what this portends for the future of your son, Blake. Please let the wonderful memories of his time with you comfort you everyday until Jesus wakes him up from his sleep in death and you can see him and have him near to you again. (John 5:28,29)

My deepest sympathy.

“ Joy, There are no words that can comfort you and your family in this time of need. Blake was a truly wonderful young man who was growing up faster than one could keep up with. May you and your family find strength and courage to carry you and your family through during this time of need. Blake will be missed and is loved deeply. You and your family are in our thoughts and prayers. Joy may you find peace and the strength to overcome your loss. We love you Joy and will miss Blake tremendously.
