“ Geraldine was a loving and joyful woman, dedicated to her family, especially her grandchildren. She loved this life and fought her long illness with strength, grace, and dignity that serves as an inspiration to us who knew her. It took a special person like her to care for her mother for many years and then her husband James during his illness. She is with the Lord and will be rewarded for her special acts of kindness and love. May God’s peace be with each you.
