“ I could not have asked for a finer teacher to take on the role of teaching my son kindergarten. She was a little afraid but jumped in with both feet. She did wonders for him. She truly knew how much she meant to us for all her work. You will never be forgotten, I love you!!

“ Joshilyn was a wonderful person, colleague, teacher, and friend. I truly always appreciated her advice and support as a fellow teacher at Elkton. As a parent I was proud to have her as my son's teacher. Please know that the students always loved and cherished the memories that they made in her class. My family's thoughts and prayers are with you.

“ This is such sad news.

Joshilyn was among the first to welcome us back to the South way back in '78. She was married to Doug by then, and they had a brand new baby boy. They lived about a mile from our house, in Merrell Smith's place that had previously been the old "Smyrna School House", for which our ghost town was once named.

As our parents gallivanted all over the world, Boots and Dora Dean, the Tucker's and Ezell's looked after us kids and our grandparents: they helped protect our place, checked on us when the storms passed through, and made sure the woodpile wasn't too thin. We were so blessed to have the greatest salt of the earth living on each side of our farm.

Slowly but surely, our time is fading. The people we know are becoming memories for us; and I'm so thankful for Boots, Dora Dean, Joshilyn, Pam, and the community they made for us way out in Spook Hollow. God bless you all.
